

PROJECT MANAGER

The European Biodiesel Board, also known as EBB, is a non-profit organisation established in January 1997. EBB promotes the use of biodiesel in the European Union. EBB groups the major EU biodiesel producers, counting today 70 member companies and associations located in 20 Member States.

We are currently looking for a dynamic and motivated Project Manager to expand our Brussel's office.

The ideal profile

- University degree in either Law, Politics, Economics, Communication, or equivalent
- Thorough knowledge of EU decision-making processes and actors is a must
- Excellent English is required. Knowledge of additional EU languages is an asset
- Prior experience in the field of energy, transport and/or environment will be considered a plus
- Genuine interest in environmental issues, the fight against climate change and bio-energy is a plus
- Understanding of the interplay between technical/industrial and political issues
- "Can-do" attitude, ability to rapidly understand, summarize and solve complex problems

Tasks

Assist the Secretary General and the other Project Managers in the day to day work of the Federation, including:

- Lobbying actions and networking with EU institutions and other stakeholders (industry, farmers organisations, NGOs)
- Monitoring EU and national legislative and regulatory frameworks for biodiesel/biofuels, energy, transport, agriculture, etc.
- Monitoring biodiesel market developments at EU, national and international level
- Contributing to define the position of the EU biodiesel industry on different political and technical issues
- Participating in conferences and public events
- Organising internal and external meetings
